

Cookie notice

A simple statement about cookies, local storage and measurement on this site.

Plain-language notice

This document supports the payment gateway onboarding and integration service at paymentgatewayforgaminginindia.com. It has not been presented as lawyer-reviewed and is not legal advice.

1. Current position

At the review date shown above, the site does not install Google Analytics, Microsoft Clarity, advertising pixels or other optional audience-measurement scripts. The site does not set first-party marketing cookies.

2. Necessary delivery data

Cloudflare may process connection information and use strictly necessary security or load-balancing mechanisms to deliver and protect the site. These mechanisms are controlled by the infrastructure layer and are not used by GPI Gateway to build advertising profiles.

3. Contact form

The contact form sends the fields you enter to a first-party endpoint at </api/contact>. The form does not need a marketing cookie. Basic technical data is handled as described in the Privacy Notice.

4. Browser controls

You can use browser settings to inspect, block or delete cookies and site storage. Blocking a security mechanism may affect availability or form delivery. Because no optional analytics are installed, the site does not currently display a consent banner.

5. Future changes

If optional analytics, advertising or preference cookies are added, this notice and the Privacy Notice should be updated before activation. Where required, the site will also present an appropriate choice mechanism.

6. Contact

Questions about site storage or this notice may be sent to contact@paymentgatewayforgaminginindia.com.